This much he said in the full belief that the reporter came in good faith to services, but when he learned that he was only a newspaper man in quest of useful knowledge, he raved and went on like a maniac; so much a that the reporter was in fear

One important fact, possibly new to a majority of the public, is brought distinctly out by the interviewer, namely, that Rosensweig, and many others like him, have means for whitewashing solied reputations committed to their care, as well as a sort of legal blind for committing the remains of their butchered victims to the grave without the intervention of a Coroner's jury, or a proper certificate of death from natural causes.
